

inescapable. Need bred the will to make this spell a reality.

Regenerate Substance will work on one object. The object must be something that the caster can touch and see in total. For instance, a caster may use the spell on a suit of armor, despite being several pieces, but not the planet Earth since he could not see the entire planet.

The effect of the spell will allow an object to regenerate at a rate of the casters level per minute or round. This has a maximum of 10 points per round. This means if the caster is sixth level then the spell will regenerate an object at six Fortitude points per round or minute. Once the damage is all repaired, the spell will cease to function.

Regenerate Substance will have no effect on living matter, i.e. people. It will never produce more of a substance than was originally there. Also, it is not limited by the Mend ten uses maximum, it can be used as many times on an object as is desired.

One limitation of the spell is that the object must be in able to be assembled. For instance, a bowl that has been crushed to dust cannot be used with Regenerate Substance. Armor that has been melted or burned also cannot be fixed in this fashion. However, if the pieces can be roughly assembled in the original shape, or are still worn, then Regenerate Substance will be effective.

Setting Characters

Dr. Warner Holdst

Dr. Holdst is a leading bio-physicist for the Germans and a native Austrian. Five years ago he was recruited into the special projects division by the SS and some would say he joined eagerly. He is not a hard line Nazi follower but does enjoy the funding for his research. Up until then he had been working on enhancing the immune systems of primates with substantial success. It was this work that initially attracted the attention of the Reich.

Dr. Holdst is fifty-three years old, stands five feet eleven inches tall, has greying black hair and grey eyes. He has a very sharp mind and is very direct, although he prefers to think before taking action. He has a deep love for his family, especially Lorelei, but often cautions his daughter to think more thoroughly before acting. He fears her impulsive actions will be her undoing at some point.

Dr. Holdst has a wife and two daughters living in Salzburg. His wife, Isolde, is worried about him because he works so hard. Lorelei, his eldest, is attending university for teaching. His younger daughter has no ambitions for university but has been making the tour of the social circles. Lorelei Holdst is concerned recently since she has not received a letter from her father in over a week. He normally writes daily. She will look into her fathers absence if no one else will.

Lorelei Holdst

Lorelei Holdst is a rare individual for her time in that she is motivated to do what she wants and will not entertain the idea that she cannot do something. A woman of 22 years, she is attending university at Salzburg and studying to become a teacher of medicine. She is athletic, to an indecent level for 1938, and is involved in the fencing team. She is five feet ten inches tall with chestnut brown hair and grey eyes. She looks more like her father's side of the family than her mother's and has his same fiery determination.

Lorelei has petitioned the Reich and the Austrian government for information of her father but has been refused. She feels she has exhausted all her options and is resorting to building a team for what she believes is a rescue mission. If she cannot find a group to help her, then she will go it alone. The Gestapo or the Dept. 12 teams may find her searching the base for her father. She will try very hard to convince them to save her father but if they refuse she will attempt to leave them and continue the search herself.

Sturmbannführer Manfred Gruentz

Commander of the MittelWald Station, Sturmbannführer Gruentz is a very responsible officer in the SS. He is in charge of the station's security and soldiers as well as general administration.

He is noted as being driven by his career. As a young man he denounced his father to the Nazi Party. It is also believed, but cannot be proven, that when his brother confided in him that he was leaving Germany in order to marry a Jewish girl he had him killed rather than risk damage to his standing with Hitler and Goering. He is a responsible officer of the most dangerous type, the kind that truly believes all the propaganda of the Reich.

Lorelei has met the Sturmbannführer several times and will relate his insistence that she be accommodating. She has refused him and at times incited anger but never a response that would be fatal.

Dr. Dietrich Faber

Dr. Faber is a well travelled doctor of chemistry and pharmaceuticals. He has a very professional relationship with Dr. Holdst and outright enmity with Dr. Herald. He is seldom seen socializing and prefers to be all business in the lab.

He stands six feet tall and has brown hair with a touch of grey at the temples. He sports a neatly trimmed goatee and wears round spectacles.

Dr. Faber's nationality is somewhat of a mystery.

Although he has a German name he speaks with an English accent which he blames on his extensive travels. When asked he will usually evade the question and state that he is from many locations around the world.

from a small private college outside of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Dr. Jonathan Herald

Dr. Herald is an English doctor of anatomy and was hired only one year ago. He has become a good friend of the Holdst family and not having any family in England has spent most of the holidays with them. His spare time has been spent in courting Lorelei and they have grown fond of each other. His favorite pass time is to play chess with either Lorelei or her father.

Dr. Herald is in his early thirties, has blond hair and brown eyes. He stands five feet ten inches and dresses conservatively. He received his degrees
